Foundation: American Psychiatric Foundation

Summary: The American Psychiatric Foundation is committed to promoting early recognition of and treatment of mental illness. The foundation is making up to $750,000 in grant funds available over the next three years (2005-2007) to fund educational, informational, and outreach initiatives that promote the early recognition and treatment of mental illness. Grants from the foundation can support a wide variety of public education activities in this arena. The APF is looking to fund new and innovative ideas and programs that will promote awareness of mental illness and the effectiveness of treatment, the importance of early intervention, access to care, and the need for high quality services and treatment.
